

Module Psychoeducation

On the website a number of presentations are available that can be used to provide information to patients about ADHD and the link with addiction.

Both the symptoms and the neurobiology are discussed as well as an overview of the available treatments.