

Table of Contents

Foreword
A Clarion Call for Cooperation	9
Preface	13
Chapter I
Overview and Methodology	15
1.1 Introduction	15
1.2 Definitions	17
1.2.1 Policing	17
1.2.2 Plural policing	21
1.2.3 The police	22
1.2.4 The public and the private	23
1.2.5 Art crime	26
1.3 Methodology	30
1.3.1 Data sources	30
1.3.2 Sampling	32
1.3.3 Interview approach	35
1.3.4 Analytical approach	37
1.4 Research contribution	40
1.5 Conclusion	42
Chapter II
Public and Private Policing	45
2.1 Introduction	45
2.2 Assessing plural policing	46
2.3 Policing co-production	48
2.4 Facilitating policing co-production	53
2.4.1 Fiscal constraint	53
2.4.2 Policing culture	56
2.4.3 The particulars of policing contexts	59
2.5 Conclusion	62

Chapter III

Art Crime	65
3.1 Introduction	65
3.2 Art crime: a research topic	66
3.3 Distinguishing art crime	70
3.3.1 The causes of art crime	70
3.3.2 The dynamics of trading art	72
3.3.3 The grey market	74
3.3.4 The art crime modus operandi	77
3.3.5 The impact of art crime	79
3.4 Policing art crime	80
3.4.1 A specialist task	80
3.4.2 Plural art crime policing	82
3.5 Conclusion	85

Chapter IV

Art Crime Policing in Belgium	87
4.1 Introduction	87
4.2 Legislation	88
4.2.1 Art crime law	88
4.2.2 Plural policing law	89
4.3 Policy	92
4.4 The ‘Cel Kunst & Antiek’	96
4.5 The Belgian art crime policing network	103
4.6 Conclusion	106

Chapter V

Art Crime Policing in the United Kingdom	109
5.1 Introduction	109
5.2 Legislation	110
5.2.1 Art crime law	110
5.2.2 Plural policing law	112
5.3 Policy	113
5.4 The London Metropolitan Police’s Art and Antiques Unit	115
5.5 The British art crime policing network	120
5.6 Conclusion	122

Chapter VI

Art Crime Policing in France	125
6.1 Introduction	125
6.2 Legislation	126
6.2.1 Art crime law	126
6.2.2 Plural policing law	128
6.3 Policy	130
6.4 The Office Central de lutte Contre le trafic des Biens Culturels	131
6.5 The French art crime policing network	135
6.6 Conclusion	137

Chapter VII

Art Crime Policing in Practice	139
7.1 Introduction	139
7.2 Fiscal constraint and art crime policing	140
7.2.1 Degrees of fiscal constraint	140
7.2.2 Dimensions of fiscal constraint	145
7.2.3 Fiscal constraint and art crime policing	148
7.2.4 Strategy and institutional memory	153
7.3 The moderating effect of policing culture	155
7.4 Legislation: delineating possibility	161
7.5 The policy impetus	167
7.6 Agency and the public-private relationship	169
7.6.1 The instrumentalization of cooperation	169
7.6.2 Conflicting interests	171
7.6.3 Profit and suspicion	173
7.6.4 The (in)formality of art crime policing arrangements	175
7.7 Art crime policing and intelligence-led policing	176
7.8 Conclusion	180

Chapter VIII

The Co-Production of Art Crime	183
8.1 Introduction	183
8.2 Art crime policing co-production	184
8.2.1 The prevalence of policing co-production in art crime policing	184
8.2.2 Explaining art crime policing co-production	187
8.3 Going forward in art crime policing	189

8.3.1 Research implications	189
8.3.2 Implications for practice	193
8.4 Conclusion	197
Notes	199
Bibliography	251